Dear parents,

This has already been such an exciting week and it has only just begun! Thank you so much to everyone for all of your help with the visit by the Archbishop earlier this week. It was such an exciting day and it went beautifully with all of your help. Thank you also to Mrs. Klapperich and all of her students for their efforts on the play that her students performed. It was a job extremely well done and I was so proud of our kindergarten students and our kindergarten teacher.

Tonight we will host Superintendent Kathleen Cepelka, Ph.D. as our guest at the Parent Teacher Home and School Meeting. Child care will be provided by middle school students, so feel free to bring your little ones along. I look forward to seeing you all there.

We have secured the display space at the new Delafield Public Library to showcase some of our students' artwork. Please stop by to see the kids' work and to visit the beautiful new facility. Perhaps check out a book or two while you are there.

This week in your Wednesday folder, you should find a confirmation for your conference time. If you did not receive the slip and you have already sent in a time preference, please let us know. If you have not yet sent information on your time preference for conferences, please return that information as soon as possible so we can get you in the conference schedule. Don't forget there will be early dismissal on Thursday, Nov, 11 and no school Friday, Nov. 12 due to conferences. Report cards will be issued during the conferences this first quarter (all other quarters, they will be sent home with your son/daughter).

The boxes are out for the winter coat, hat and mitten drive for the Boy Scouts. Bring your donations to the school entry space.

Only one more newsletter before the auction! Make sure to get your RSVP cards in and your raffle tickets purchased for the event. See you all on the red carpet!

The teachers are now easily able to receive email using their sjarc.org accounts. Below is a list of teacher emails so you may use the information to communicate with your child's teachers.
